Candice Carr is a Senior Attorney in Microsoft’s Corporate, External, and Legal Affairs (CELA) department. She is a member of Microsoft’s Modern CELA team within the Office of the General Counsel. Her primary role as Storyteller is to help drive positive change in our legal ecosystem through stories of digital transformation, successful use of our Microsoft solutions, and cultural adoption of Microsoft technology to help us work better.

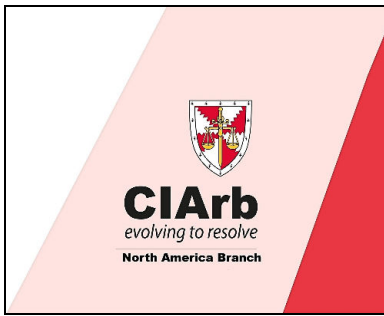

Prior to her role with Modern CELA, she served as the lead attorney for the Microsoft Online Stores ecommerce business, which operates in over 190 markets, where she managed global outside counsel to support new business model developments, market expansions, customer satisfaction issues, and regulatory matters. During her career at Microsoft, she was also a lead transactional attorney for Microsoft’s Global Procurement business managing a substantial volume of SaaS and Software Licensing deals and partnerships that served to empower business teams across the company.

Before her time at Microsoft, Candice was in private practice at Perkins Coie and Graham and Dunn as a Business and Transactional attorney representing emerging private companies and U.S. public companies. At Perkins Coie, she was part of the team to launch the firm’s Attorney Development Program focused on career development and mentorship for attorneys.

She has had a career long commitment to pro bono work, including participation in small business workshops and corporate governance advice to non-profit boards. At Microsoft Candice, as a native Jamaican, has been able to pursue her passion around immigration rights as a legal volunteer with the Kids In Need of Defense Organization.

Candice is a member of Microsoft CELA African American/ Black Employee (AA/BEN) Network Steering Committee leading Diversity and Inclusion efforts to foster education, career development, leadership, and allyship within our communities.

Candice received her BA in Politics at Princeton and her JD at the University of Chicago – The Law School. She is licensed to practice in the States of Oregon and Washington.

For the past five and a half years, Anthony Hill has served as Senior Litigation, Investigations and Disputes Counsel for Accenture Federal Services. He provides legal support in litigation, disputes, and government investigations affecting Accenture. The ultimate function of Anthony's role is to mitigate Accenture's legal, financial and reputational risks, particularly related to False Claims Act issues; Anti-Kickback Act issues; Fraud, Waste and Abuse issues; Data Security and Privacy issues; Insider Threats; and other related areas.

Prior to joining Accenture, Anthony served as General Counsel for Financial Markets International, Inc. (FMI), a government contractor located in Washington, DC. In this capacity, Anthony addressed governance, anti-corruption and democratic development issues particularly as they impacted global financial markets; assured compliance with USAID rules, regulations and guidelines; developed and implemented FMI's overall anti-corruption compliance strategy; managed global internal investigations, focused reviews and audits; and provided representation before various federal agencies.

Before his time at FMI, Anthony served for three years as an Associate, and for two years as Counsel in the litigation group of Akin Gump Strauss Hauer & Feld LLP. Anthony's practice focused on white-collar defense and complex commercial litigation. In this regard, he represented individuals, corporations and public officials in criminal and civil matters, including government enforcement proceedings, congressional oversight investigations, false claims investigations, federal and state grand jury process, in addition to trial practice.

Prior to going into private practice, Anthony served as a Judicial Law Clerk to Judge John Garrett Penn of the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, and as a Judicial Law Clerk to Chief Judge Annice M. Wagner of the D.C. Court of Appeals.
